

Benefits of UNM's Online Programs

- Offer a suite of quality online undergraduate degree completion programs and full masters programs at an affordable price. These programs are offered at a standard tuition rate regardless of where the student lives.
- Designed for busy working adults who need flexibility with earning a degree. The undergraduate programs are designed for students who have completed an associate degree or have at least 24 transferable college-level credit hours.
- Offer courses in an accelerated eight-week format that start five times a year. Students can apply and start a program at multiple times throughout the year.
- Fully accredited and are taught by the same high quality faculty that teach on campus.
- All of the online courses have undergone a rigorous design and review process based upon Quality Matters standards. The courses are reviewed and updated on a consistent basis for currency and application of the latest learning technologies to provide the best learning experience for the student.

UNM Online Programs

For more information about UNM Online Programs, including degree completion opportunities, class schedules and student services, contact the UNM Online Programs at:

Phone: toll-free 866-869-6040

Email: online@unm.edu

Website: online.unm.edu

Chicana and Chicano Studies

Contact: Dr. Irene Vasquez
Phone: 505-277-0998
Email: ivasquez@unm.edu
Website: chicanos.unm.edu

Dr. Irene Vasquez is the Chair of the Chicana and Chicano Studies Department at the University of New Mexico. She is an Associate Professor in Chicana and Chicano Studies and American Studies.

*Note: Information is subject to updates and changes.
(updated: 5-27-2016)*

Learn, Investigate and Advance
through UNM's Unique Online

Bachelor's Degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies

Earn a Bachelor's Degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies. The 36-unit online degree completion program provides a comprehensive education in transnational and transborder studies unique to Chicana/o and Latina/o populations in the United States.

Learn in an online academic environment with highly qualified multidisciplinary faculty. Access a student-centered learning environment and collaborate with community partners. Build your analytical and cultural expertise with the Chicana and Chicano Studies Degree program.

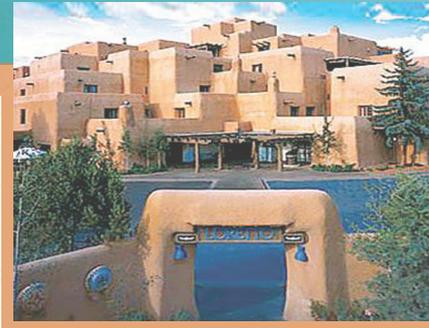

Chicana and Chicano Studies Degree with emphasis in Transnational Latino Perspectives

In the United States, societies are increasingly heterogeneous with Latinos emerging as vibrant ethnic communities. The population shift presents a critical need to build diversity awareness through an appreciation of multilingualism, multiculturalism, and thoughtful engagement.

The University of New Mexico offers a Bachelor's Degree through the Chicana and Chicano Studies Department. Earning the Bachelor's Degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies positions students to interpret and meaningfully contribute to the economic needs of today's global economy. Those interested in pursuing the degree program are also diverse. Professionals, students, politicians, community members and many others benefit by learning to work with Latino immigrant and ethnic populations in the United States.

In online coursework, students will examine historical and contemporary dynamics and explore issues facing U.S.-based Latino descent communities. As they progress, they will gain sophisticated skills to live and work with complex and changing populations in the United States. They will also acquire the following skills highly valued by educational institutions and employers:

- Advanced-level critical thinking proficiencies
- Effective and diverse written and verbal communication abilities
- Sophisticated intercultural competencies

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will draw on diverse gendered, social, historical, economic and cultural perspectives to evaluate the historical and contemporary conditions, issues, and challenges facing diverse Mexican descent populations;
2. Students will analyze intersectionality so as to understand the impact of the social construction of race, class, gender, and sexuality as related to diverse Chicana/o, and Latina/o communities in national and transnational contexts;
3. Students will assess the social, historical and cultural development of New Mexico's Chicana/o and Hispana/o communities within the larger context of U.S. and Mexican American history;
4. Students will apply technology in individual and collaborative learning situations to engage key concepts and problems, solve tasks, or develop solutions to problems;
5. Students will demonstrate an ability to engage in creative and community-responsive problem-solving in addressing questions of social justice facing community-based organizations as they relate to local and global realities; and
6. Students will evaluate the applicability and relevance of theories and approaches to Chicana/o experiences and to the discipline.

What can I do with a Chicana and Chicano Studies Degree?

Students with a degree in Chicana and Chicano Studies are prepared to enter the following academic pathways, careers and professions:

Career areas:

- art • diplomacy • community and non-profit organizations
- design • local and national governments/politics • health education • marketing • medicine • public history • professional writing • public policy • research • teaching

Preparation for graduate and professional education in:

- Business Administration • Public Administration • Social Work • Journalism • Health Education • Academic Advising/Counseling • Law School • Library Sciences • Film direction and production • Community and Regional Planning • Architecture • International Communications

Degree Completion Requirements

- | | | |
|------|-----|--|
| CCS | 109 | Intro to Comparative Ethnic and Global Societies |
| CCS | 201 | Introduction to CCS |
| SPAN | 202 | Intermediate Spanish |
| CCS | 310 | Immigration and Assimilation |
| CCS | 331 | Transnational Feminisms |
| CCS | 332 | Introduction to Chicana Studies |
| CCS | 364 | Raza Genders and Sexualities |
| CCS | 365 | Chicana/o Cultural Studies |
| CCS | 384 | Community Based Learning in CCS |
| CCS | 460 | Latinos in a Global Society |
| CCS | 480 | New Approaches in CCS |
| CCS | 490 | Advanced Seminar in CCS |

